MOVIE NIGHT & DISCUSSION

Four Feet Up: <http://films.nfb.ca/four-feet-up/?mid=9591>

film by Nance Ackerman, 2008 46 min., NFB

Twenty years after the promise of the House of Commons "to eliminate poverty among Canadian children," 8-year-old Isaiah contemplates what "less fortunate" means as he finds his voice through his own magical drawings and photographs. Astute about the fact that his parents don't make a lot of money, Isaiah is unaware of their constant worry about putting food on the table, affording any after-school opportunities, and keeping stereotypes at a distance.

Four Feet Up invites us into the lives of this determined family, revealing an intimate and touching experience of child poverty in one of the world's richest nations.

Organized in partnership with TDCSS, Poverty Advocacy Program

Movie Night takes place on Thursdays mid-month
